

OUR COMMITMENT TO PRODUCT DONATIONS

AbbVie supports targeted product donations that build and advance health system capacity, access and infrastructure. We are committed to ensuring that our donations to charitable, philanthropic partners are responsibly managed, meet important health care needs, and sustain the health care system capabilities in recipient countries. AbbVie adheres to a strict Global Product Donations Policy, which aligns with the World Health Organization (WHO) Guidelines for Medicine Donations. AbbVie is an active member of the Partnership for Quality Medical Donations (PQMD). AbbVie donates medicine based on four core principles:

- The donation should be aligned with local needs and bring maximum benefit to the recipient.
- The donation should be made in a way that respects the requirements of the recipient.
- Effective communication between donor and recipient.
- The donation must be of optimal quality.

In order to provide maximum benefit to patients who receive donated medicine, AbbVie has set minimum quality, regulatory, and procedural requirements for charitable donations of AbbVie products for disaster relief and humanitarian purposes. AbbVie ensures that donation recipients meet all necessary requirements, including alignment with WHO guidelines; compliance with the applicable recipient country requirements; and possess capacity to secure, store, distribute, track and utilize products. We work with donation recipients to ensure the following:

- Donated medicine will be distributed free of charge and will not be sold.
- Donated medicine is safe and effective and meets the legal requirements of the country in which it will be used.
- Donated medications comply with applicable United States legal and regulatory requirements including the Prescription Drug Marketing Act.
- Provided medicine is delivered in original sealed packaging and has a future expiration date.
- Pharmaceuticals exported from the United States will not be re-imported to the United States.
